

Food Bank of Iowa's Mobile Pantry Program is designed to provide flexible food assistance in locations that do not have access to traditional resources.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

- Food Bank of Iowa staff deliver donated and USDA foods to the communities at no charge
- Local volunteers set up a distribution system - much like a farmers market
- Families and individuals in-need come to pick up food
- When the food is gone, volunteers reset the space to its original condition
- Mobile pantries are accessible up to 12 months/year

BENEFITS TO THE COMMUNITY

- Can serve as a hub for information about other resources available
- All food distributed through our mobile pantries is completely free
- Mobile pantries can fill a need for food assistance in towns that need additional resources

BENEFITS TO YOU

- Social media and website recognition
- Press release with local news media
- Photo opportunity with Food Bank of Iowa representative and mobile pantry
- Potential volunteer experience at mobile pantry site
